

Peek

Matty is a teenage mother to three young children, ages three, two, and three months. She receives limited support from the children's father. She is currently homeless and attempting to find affordable housing. Matty has started to set up community resources to help her, but she still struggles to balance everything. Matty is a motivated young woman who is determined to raise her children differently than she was. She would appreciate any help to give her children a memorable Christmas.
